HELPFUL HINTS

- Be sure that every member of your household knows how — and where — to shut off the water supply valve.
- Twice a year test the valve to be sure it has not become stuck in the “on” or “open” position.
- Several times a year, inspect plumbing beneath sinks and check washing machine hoses to ensure connections are secure.
- Always be alert for signs of moisture on walls, ceilings, or floors, or for rust-tinted water. These could indicate a slow leak or plumbing supply system failure.
- Monitor monthly water bills for signs of high usage, which may indicate a potential plumbing issue.
